
Japan America Society of Colorado

The Pioneer Kansha-sai (Gala) honors Dick Clark, Senior Partner at Rothgerber Johnson and Lyons LLP, one of Colorado's most respected citizens.

Many people know of Dick Clark's sterling career in litigation, corporate representation, and international business matters at the Denver firm of Rothgerber, Johnson, & Lyons LLP. Dick has earned enormous regard in the legal and real estate communities for his work on real estate and construction litigation. He is just as well known, and just as highly respected, in Colorado's international trade community; Dick has represented more than 50 Japanese companies in the U.S. When Governors of Colorado, whether Republican or Democrat, head to Japan, Dick is invariably asked to come along as a companion and advisor. Naturally, he will play that role on Gov. Ritter's trip to Japan this fall.

But it may not be as well known that Dick has been an invaluable civic leader as well, and a pioneer in building relations between Japan and Colorado. Dick served several terms as president of our Japan-America Society; he earned high regard both in Colorado and in Japan for his unflinching efforts in that post. He is particularly well known and admired in Colorado's sister state, Yamagata Prefecture.

The reception, dinner, and recognition program at which Dick will receive the Pioneer Award from the Japan America Society of Colorado will be held on the evening of Saturday, January 31st, at the Brown Palace Hotel. We expect approximately 350 participants including elected officials, representatives from local, state and national governments including the Japanese Government, real estate and other respected business leaders, international companies, and members of the Japanese and Japanese American communities. The event may also be covered by the print and electronic media.

Please join us in paying tribute to Richard Clark for all of his efforts and successes by becoming a sponsor for the evening.
